

Laura Townsend is the director of the Moss Bay Recorder Society, leads Seattle Recorder Society's Back Room Gang and has a teaching studio in Seattle. Her specialty, delight and passion is working with adult beginners. Originally trained as a developmental psychologist, she's dedicated to discovering the most effective ways to learn and is committed to growing her own skills. She takes lessons with Vicki Boeckman, plays in the Recorder Orchestra of Puget Sound, studied conducting with Peter Seibert, performs with the ensemble Quintessence, and attends workshops as often as possible.
